Norwegian herStay, director Monica Emilie Herstad, was offered the Silver Prize at the international art festival Pohang Bada in South Korea, on August 7th, 2011.

The festival gave this year's prizes to the best performances, hence to Norwegian Monica Emilie Herstad with her herStay performance Movers and shakers - Tangible channeling the existence of nature, beside the Korean Studio 365 with their performance Alice, which took the first prize. herStay consists of 6 members, who were all grateful and happy to be invited to perform 4 evenings at the prestigious festival's main stage.

The Pohang Bada International Theater Festival offers 7 stages, with 32 different performances, within a diversity of genres, from all over the world. The festival is organised by the South Korean Cultural Ministry. herStay is co-financed by the Norwegian Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Norwegian Art Council, Fund for Performing Artists, and the International Ibsen Award Scholarship. The Pohang Bada International Theater Festival's main sponsor is Posco (Pohang Iron and Steel Company).
